Dear Friends,

On behalf of the Commonwealth, welcome to the 2016 Governor's Local Issues Conference. We are honored you have chosen to invest your time and talents toward the betterment of Kentucky.

Today's events will provide you with the opportunity to interact with your colleagues, share methods of success, and develop valuable relationships that will benefit the future of Kentucky. I look forward to hearing your ideas and suggestions for addressing many of the critical issues facing our state.

The theme of this conference, Building a Better Kentucky, directly reflects the underlying mission of my administration. As citizens, we should take our state motto to heart: "United We Stand, Divided We Fall." Together, we must take pride in our Commonwealth. Although there will be challenges in the years to come, with the help of dedicated citizens like you, we can make Kentucky the greatest version of itself. United, we can shore up Kentucky's workforce, reinvest in infrastructure, and make Kentucky the crown jewel in America's manufacturing sector. By working together, we can create a Kentucky that shines like a beacon for the entire world to see and emulate.

I am certain this event will be both productive and enjoyable. Glenna and I send our best wishes as you continue your service to the people of Kentucky.

Sincerely,
Matthew G. Bevin

Secretary Don Parkinson, Tourism, Arts, & Heritage Cabinet and Branscombe Richmond, Actor

Secretary Parkinson discusses the history of the Kentucky Film Incentive, the role it plays in tourism and our economy, and the future of the film industry in Kentucky. Actor Branscombe Richmond discusses his experience in the film industry and how communities can attract filmmakers. He also talks about why he believes Kentucky is well positioned in the nation to become a leader in film.

Branscombe Richmond is the son of movie stuntman Leo C. Richmond and first broke into film and TV in the early 1970s with minor roles in shows such as The Bionic Woman, The Rockford Files and Magnum, P.I. From there he quickly picked up work in numerous made-for-TV movies and appearances in such productions as License to Kill, Best Seller and Batman Returns. In early 1991 Richmond scored the key role of "Bobby Six Killer" in the bounty hunter-themed TV series Renegade starring alongside Lorenzo Lamas. Since the late 1990s, Richmond has remained busy on several fronts. He's continued acting in Hollywood and is on the acclaimed Showtime series Roadies. He's also notched up numerous awards, including being voted "Native American Entertainer of the Year" and "Mr Showman" of the year by the Las Vegas Review Journal.

2:30-3:30 pm: Workshops

Fiscal Transparency and the Power of Data-Driven Decision-Making in Local Government

Kentucky State Treasurer Allison Ball, Madison County Deputy Judge/Executive Colleen Chaney, Charlie Francis, OpenGov; Carroll/Ford Room

Modern technology allows for an unprecedented level of transparency—and citizens appreciate when governments take proactive steps to increase accountability. Additionally, as governments move into the arena of enhanced digital transparency, the potential for leveraging data analytics to improve government services increases exponentially.

Making the Public Problem-Solvers, Not Part of the Problem

Dr. Ted Grossardt, Vox Populi, LLC; Nunn Room

Believe it or not, most citizens want to contribute to good solutions for their tax dollars. Learn how to enlist them to find answers, instead of just showing up to object. Get strategic and tactical advice on how to frame questions as shared problems instead of contests, how to keep the public's attention focused on the question and not each other, the use of simple technologies to get more and better information from more people, and how to avoid 'karaoke night', when a few vocal people hijack a meeting.

Funding Water and Wastewater Projects in the Commonwealth

Kentucky Infrastructure Authority Staff; Breathitt Room

Kentucky Infrastructure Authority staff takes you through the process of funding water and wastewater projects and the four funding options offered by KIA. KIA also discusses changes to the State Revolving Fund, how those changes affect the loan options for borrowers and the future of KIA.

Top Ten Open Meetings and Open Records Mistakes

Amye Bensenhaver, Attorney General's Office;
Combs/Chandler Room

Ms. Bensenhaver, an Assistant Attorney General, provides an overview of the most common pitfalls in complying with the Open Meetings and Open Records Act. Questions are encouraged.

Improving Your Local Roads with Low-Cost Improvements

Martha Horseman, Valerie Pitts, Jeff Hackbart and Todd Morrison, Kentucky Transportation Center at the University of Kentucky; Nunn Room

The Local Technical Assistance Program (LTAP) / UK's Technology Transfer Program reviews free tools and training available to local agencies. As county budgets get tighter, the need for information and tools and equipment that are at no cost is essential. They discuss low-cost improvements for local governments to utilize to aid the traveling public.

Grants and Economic Development Opportunities

Tony Hatton, Division of Waste Management and Peter Goodmann, Division of Water, Energy and Environment Cabinet; Breathitt Room

There are a number of grants and opportunities for your community for economic development through the Energy and Environment Cabinet. Learn more about these many funding resources to boost your city or county's bottom line.

Kentucky Legal Issues Panel

Department for Local Government's Office of Legal Services Staff; Rich Ornstein, Kentucky Association of Counties; and Laura Milam Ross, Kentucky League of Cities; Combs/Chandler Room

Papa John Schnatter, Founder, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, Papa John's Pizza

In 1983, John Schnatter delivered his last college campus pizza, received his business degree from Ball State University and headed home to Jeffersonville, Indiana. There, at age 22, he knocked down a broom closet in his father's tavern, installed an oven and began delivering pizza out of the back of the bar.

From day one, John believed he could make a better traditional pizza by using fresh dough and superior-quality ingredients. His goal: to make the same great-tasting pizza that locally owned shops offered, but didn't deliver. Today, Papa John's boasts more than 4,900 restaurants in 50 states and 40 countries and territories.

Papa John's success did not happen overnight. It took—and still takes—commitment, hard work, dedication and curiosity. John's drive and passion for pizza and for the business stem from his respect and admiration that dates back three generations to his late father Robert Schnatter, Grandfather Louis Ackerson and great-grandfather Martin G. Schnatter. They were his mentors and they were his motivators; each one instilled a core value that has shaped Papa John's culture—always tinkering and striving for better.

John's numerous business achievements and philanthropic efforts culminated in his induction into the Louisville Junior Achievement Business Hall of Fame in 2000, and the Junior Achievement U.S. Business Hall of Fame in 2007. In 2011, John was inducted into Nova Southeastern University's H. Wayne Huizenga Business School's Entrepreneur Hall of Fame.
